Supporting the Church

The Precepts of the Church help us grow in our relationship with God and with the Church. One of the Precepts is to provide for the needs of the Church.

We often think of the Church as a community of believers that provide for the needs of others, but the Church has needs too. A common way to support the Church is to make financial contributions. Catholics are also called to share their time and talents with the Church. We can do this by making a donation to a food pantry or homeless shelter or by serving as a liturgical minister at Mass.

Share Your Time and Talent

On a separate sheet of paper, draw a picture of yourself doing something to support the Church. Give the picture a caption that helps explain what you are doing.
